

Mr. William Church, of this county, met with a very severe accident by being thrown from a buggy as he was coming to town on Friday night last. He was riding in company with his neighbor, Mr. E. H. Steadman, when the horse ran off, throwing them both out upon the turnpike. Mr. Steadman was uninjured, but found on rising that Mr. Church was insensible and very badly cut and bruised about the head and face. Assistance was procured, and he was taken home and still lies in a critical condition, his consciousness having only partially returned, and his physician fearing that there has been concussion of the brain.

One of the handsomest improvements going on in the city is the new Christian Church, in course of construction on Ann street, opposite the ell of the Capital hotel. Its walls are already high enough to give some idea of the design and the style of the structure, which, when completed, will be one of the finest buildings in the city.

A wag, looking over a proof of our article entitled "Tin and the Tariff," says it should have been called "Gilt and Tinsel," because, if the swindling scamps get hold of it, as suggested, it will be in guilty hands and prove a great tin-sell. There is no telling what a vein of wit might be struck if any body would only mine this smart chap. He pans out well on the surface, at any rate.

If we are not mistaken, the Lexington Press said the other day, that the Pennsylvania Central controlled the Louisville, Lexington, and Cincinnati Railroad. If it does not, is not the argument of the Press against the Frankfort, Paris, and Big Sandy Railroad weakened?

One of the old landmarks is being removed in the shape of a dilapidated brick house, opposite the Capital hotel, which is being torn down. It was among the first built in Frankfort. There are several more in the same venerable neighborhood, which ought to share its fate.

Owensboro has had a conflagration, consisting of the burning of ten thousand dollars of Daviess county railroad bonds, purchased before maturity and cancelled in this summary manner. The Monitor has the face to speak of it as a bond-fire.

Hogs.—This market, says the Lexington Press, has brightened a little in the last few days, and 3¢ have been paid for a few, so we are informed. A cool spell of weather will throw the entire crop in the market and establish the price.

The Order of Good Templars in this city is in a very prosperous condition. Capital Lodge numbers about three hundred members, and we understand active steps are being taken to organize another lodge, to be called "Minnehaha," which Mr. Longfellow in his Hiauwah, says means "laughing water." If the templars can get water to make them merry, there will be no necessity hereafter for any stronger spirits. Men with the blues take whisky to make them laugh, but just think of it! a few visits to Minnehaha will make them perfectly happy. Perhaps this is what the templars mean when they talk of "taking a smile."

DONELLAN CASE.—The Governor has commissioned Hon. T. T. Alexander, judge of the sixth district, to try the case of John Donnellan for killing an officer in Lexington. At the last term of the Bourbon circuit court Judge Thomas declined to occupy the bench, as did several attorneys selected by the bar. Under the law, the Governor has the power to appoint a judge to try the case. The trial will take place at any time Judge Alexander may select.

The French army is reorganized in nine corps, each corps containing three divisions each division two brigades, and each brigade two regiments of three thousand men each, in addition to cavalry and artillery; and forty-five thousand men extra for Algiers.

The Radical Congressman Degener was badly beaten in the late Texas election. This is a kind of degeneracy of which we should like to see more.

Rev. L. C. Lance, rector of Ascension Church in this city, returned on Saturday from Baltimore, where he has been at attendance upon the Triennial Episcopal Convention, and occupied his pulpit Sunday.

The authorities of Chicago have just acknowledged the receipt of aid from Louisville and Tinsville, both of which are spoken of as munificent.

Paducah is threatened with a coal famine. It is selling at 30 cents, with only one week's supply on hand.

George Francis Train will deliver three lectures in Louisville this month, commencing on the 14th.

The contractors have taken advantage of the good weather, and have rapidly pushed forward the work on the new pike between the two bridges.

Attention is called to advertisement of farm for sale, in another column, owned by W. O. Crockett, three miles south of Frankfort.

The Paducah Kentuckian had a bad case of the "blues" the other day. Its black ink had given out.

A CHALLENGE.—$100 to $500 dollars. Open to any person in Frankfort that can produce as skillful a specimen of plumbing (their own make) as done at Seeley's, St. Clair street.

Winchester wants a skating rink.

AMERICANS IN JAPAN.—A letter has been received at Washington from ex-Commissioner Capron, dated at Yeddo, announcing the safe arrival of himself and Professors Antisell and Pearce, and their inauguration as officials under the Japanese government. They were tendered a grand banquet, and assigned quarters in a palace. They are greatly pleased with the country and their positions under the Mikado. Two days before reaching Yokohama the party passed through a typhoon.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—We learn from the Louisville Ledger of yesterday of the accidental shooting of Thomas T. Towles, of Henderson, Friday night. The Ledger says:

On Friday night Mr. Towles, in company with several young men of the town, had secured Judge Trafton, the Representative-elect for Henderson county, and were leaving his premises, when young Towles suggested to his comrades the propriety of firing a pistol salute to Judge T. in honor of his recent election, to which his friends readily consented. Mr. Towles drew his pistol, and discharged its contents in the air, and Mr. James McCullagh attempted to do likewise, when the hammer of his weapon—which was a Derringer—became entangled in the flap of his coat pocket, and, striking the cap, the charge was lodged in Mr. Towles' body, striking him immediately under the left nipple, passing around the lung and through the trachea, lodging, it is supposed, under the right shoulder-blade. Doctors Hanna and Hodge were summoned immediately, and probed the wound, but were unable to extract the ball, and at a late hour on Saturday afternoon it was thought that the unfortunate young man could not survive the night.

Mr. Towles is well-known and has many friends in Frankfort, he having been a pupil of Mr. Sayre's for several years.

THE SOUTHERN FARM AND HOME.—There is no agricultural publication in the South or West that comes to us better filled with practical suggestions for the benefit of the planter, gardener, and stock-raiser than this. Much the larger portion of its contents is original—evidently from men who understand what they are writing about. In addition to matter pertaining to agriculture, it always contains a well-written story, and a synopsis of the current events of the day. Address J. W. Burke & Co., Macon, Georgia. Price, $2 per year.

"Her Magic Eye" is the title of a new ballad composed by Charles Schaeffer, and published by Henry Knoefel, 68 West Market street. It is dedicated to Miss Etta Kephart, of Henry county, Ky.

PERSONAL.—Hon J. R. Underwood and Captain Hines, of Bowling Green, were in city yesterday attending the Court of Appeals.

If your plumbing needs repairing, go to Oscar Seeley, the only practical plumber in Frankfort, St. Clair street.

Cars will be running from Paducah to Dyersburg, Tennessee, over the Paducah and Memphis road, by the first of January next.

POLICE COURT.—Judge Major was engaged yesterday in trying drunks, concealed weapons, and fights.

RAFFLE.—All who have chances in the picture at Conery's should be there promptly at eight o'clock to-night.

For main or sewer pipes, at low prices go to Seeley's, St. Clair street.

Apples were selling on the streets yesterday at two dollars per bushel.

Theodore B. Pryor, son of General Rorer A. Pryor, whose body was found floating in East River on the 23d, was twenty years of age and a student of law, at Princeton College, one of his class-mates, who ranked next to him in honors, said: "I had competitors—Pryor had none. No one thought of disputing his leadership." He led the class in every study, although one of its youngest members. His favorite studies were mathematics and metaphysics. When he came to graduate it was hard to find a parallel for his standing. For a hundred years no student had stood so high, and the one who came the nearest to him was Aaron Burr, who graduated just a hundred years ago. The highest average mark in the college is 100. Young Pryor's 99.9. He gained the Jay Cooke Prize of $1,000 for excellence in mathematics, and a year ago he went to England and entered at Cambridge. The same success attended him there as at Princeton. He remained five months, and received a scholarship. On Sunday morning, the 15th of October, he arose rather late. He sat over the fire in a shiver, as though he had a chill. He complained of a headache, and his face was marked with dark lines. He appeared quiet, listless, now and then sinking into a reverie unusual to him. At dinner he rallied and discussed with his father the merits of a scene in "The Rivals" as compared with a chapter in Pickwick, quoting both from memory. He remained at home most of the day, in the evening going with his mother to Dr. Van Dyke's Church. On his return he went into the library and opening Shakespeare read Julius Caesar—always a favorite play. When he closed the volume the paper knife showed he had reached the third act. About half-past nine he said to his mother, "I feel warm, I shall take a little walk and cool off." He was never seen alive afterward by any one who knew him. The accepted theory of the physicians and of those who have studied the case is, that he was suffering from congestion of the brain; that this brought with it a temporary derangement of his reason, and that he walked off into the street at Wall Street Ferry within five minutes after he left home.

THE ALDINE.—This publication, which is attracting so much attention among all lovers of pure literature and good pictures (and who does not love a good picture?) promises great things in store for the coming year. In the first place, Mr. Richard Henry Stoddard is to be the literary head of the enterprise. This selection is, perhaps, the happiest of many happy thoughts of the young and enterprising publishers. Mr. Stoddard is a poet, in the true sense of the term; his prose has that richness of thought and sympathetic feeling which proves that his is not a mere poetry of jingling rhyme. His kindly genial nature has made him a host of friends, and it would be difficult to select a second literary man in America who could, at the start, rally under his standard such an array of recognized talent and well-known names. His assumption of the editorship gives the Aldine, in advance, a proud position among the highest and best periodicals of the day.

The national feature of the art illustrations is, perhaps, the best bid for popularity that the publishers could make. Americans like to feel that they are equal to any nation in anything. So much parade has been made about this American art feature, by nearly every publisher of illustrated periodicals in the country, and the reality has been so unsatisfactory, so mortifying to every American who had a knowledge of what constitutes excellence in art, and the progress of other countries, that another announcement is hardly heeded, or a more successful result anticipated. But in the case of The Aldine there is this difference: the conductors have shown rare tact in the selection and arrangement of their resources; they have demonstrated that they possess real artistic taste and a love for art, aside from its merely commercial relations. We are, therefore, not surprised to recognize, through the specimens already given, the unquestionable right of The Aldine to the title it has taken—"a representative and champion of American art."

In the number for October, Mr. Granville Perkins, one of our foremost marine painters, contributes a sketch, "The Beach at Rockaway." This picture has been engraved and printed in a style unsurpassed by any of the periodicals of Europe.

In the number for November, now before us, is a characteristic sketch by Elsie, "The Uninvited Guest." A small snake gliding swiftly across the table-cloth electrifies and disturbs a picnic party in the midst of their dinner. The variety of expression on the faces of the group is so carefully preserved in the engraving that the picture seems to have a fresh interest every time it is taken up.

At the beginning of the year we heard many prophecies that there would (must) be a falling off in quality after a few issues. The publishers have answered that objection in the best possible way. They have proved the fear groundless, and we feel inclined to accept all their promises for the coming year, especially when backed by such guarantees as the pictures just mentioned. We would advise our readers to send along $5 at once to James Sutton & Co., 23 Liberty street, New York.

Federal Arrests.—The Mayor of the City among the Number.

The Deputy United States Marshal has been busy among the citizens of Fayette county and Lexington, for the last few days. We understand that that important official came up here from Louisville loaded with warrants of arrests. So far we learn that the following have been arrested and are now on bail:

Benjamin McNulty, Chief of Police, bail, $300.

C. N. Hendricks, deputy Chief of Police, bail, $1,000.

J. R. Frazer, Mayor of the city of Lexington, bail, $6,000.

J. W. Cochran, City Clerk, bail, $6,000.

Wm. Masner, Captain of the night watch, bail, $6,000.

Patrick Harkins, policeman, bail, $2,000.

J. W. Cochran and C. N. Hendricks are officers of the State militia, and were out with their troops on the day of the August riot.

It will be seen that the arrests made so far are of the city officials. The charges are serious, though that is something which was to be expected from the character of the witnesses who have been swearing down to Louisville for the last month. Of course, moved by malignity and the hope of gain, they would not stop short of making the most serious charges that could be trumped up. In view of these wholesale arrests of citizens, charged, mostly, with shooting on the first Monday in August, isn't it something remarkable that none have been arrested but Democrats?—Lex. Press.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Prospectus for 1872.
FIFTH YEAR.

A Representative and Champion of American Art.

THE ALDINE.

An Illustrated Monthly Journal claimed to be the handsomest Paper in the World.

"Give me love to the artist workmen of THE ALDINE, who are striving to make their profession worthy of admiration for beauty, as it has always been for usefulness."—Henry Ward Beecher.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest character of ordinary periodicals. It contains an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE is in the fact that it is a permanent possession. The labor of getting THE ALDINE ready for the press is so great that reprinting is out of the question. With the exception of a small number of illustrations, reserved for binding, the edition of 1871 is already exhausted, and it is now a scarce as well as valuable book.

New Features for 1872.
ART DEPARTMENT.

The enthusiastic support so readily accorded to their enterprise, wherever it has been introduced, has convinced the publishers of THE ALDINE of the soundness of their theory, that the American public would recognize and heartily support any sincere effort to elevate the tone and standard of illustrated publications. That so many widely-winded schemes exist, and thrive, is not evidence that there is no room for anything better—indeed the success of THE ALDINE from the start is a proof of the contrary. With a reputation so vast, and of such varied taste, a publisher can choose his patron, and his paper is rather indicated by the taste of the patron than the other way around. As a guarantee of the excellence of this department, the publishers would beg to announce, during the coming year, specimens from the following eminent American artists:

W. T. RICHARDS, W. M. WILCOX,
W. H. HART, JAS. U. BEARD,
J. M. BEARD, JAMES SMILEY,
Geo. S. SNEY, R. E. PIERCE,
A. O. WILSON, FRANK BEARD,
GRANVILLE PERKINS, PAUL DIXON,
F. O. C. DARLEY, J. H. JOWES,
VICTOR NEHLIG.

These pictures are being reproduced without regard to expense, by the very best engravers in the country, and will bear the severest critical comparison with the best foreign work, it being the determination of the publishers that THE ALDINE has a successful rival in the art of America. As in competition with any existing publication in the world.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT.

Where so much attention is paid to illustration, and set up of the work, too much dependence of appearance may very naturally be feared. To this the publishers of THE ALDINE have given the most careful attention, and the determination of the publishers that THE ALDINE has a successful rival in the art of America. As in competition with any existing publication in the world.

THE VOLUME FOR 1872

will contain nearly 300 pages, and about 250 fine engravings. Commencing with the number for January, every third number will contain a beautiful tinted picture on plate paper, inserted as a trifle.

The Christmas number for 1872, will be a splendid volume in itself, containing fifty engravings (four in tint), and, with such material as $1 will be sent without extra charge to all regular subscribers.

A Chromo to every Subscriber was a very popular feature last year, and will be repeated with the present volume. The publisher has purchased and reproduced, at great expense the beautiful oil painting by Miss, entitled "Hamlet's School." The chromo is 12 1/2 by 10, and is an exact fac-simile, in size and appearance, of the original picture. No American chromo, which will do so much credit to the art, has been offered heretofore for less than the price asked for THE ALDINE and its forer. It will be delivered free with the January number, to every subscriber who pays for our year in advance.

TERMS FOR 1872:

One Copy, one year, with Oil Chromo, - - $5 00
Five Copies, - - - - - 25 00

Any person sending 10 names and $41 will receive an extra copy gratis, making eleven copies for the money.

Any person wishing to work for a premium, can have our premium circular on application. Those who may be entitled to desirable articles offered by no other paper.

Any person wishing to act, permanently, as our agent, will apply with reference, enclosing $1 for outfit.

Organized A. D. 1794.

ARE YOU INSURED?

This is a question of more than ordinary significance, now that nearly all the prominent Insurance Companies of the land have been swept away by the burning of Chicago.

Companies rightly deemed perfectly sound a week ago, have been swamped by losses exceeding the entire amount of their assets. Many of the most prominent Companies are bankrupt.

Among the very few Companies that have come out of the terrible ordeal at Chicago, safe and sound, is

THE STAUNCH OLD BULWARK,

The Insurance Co. of North America

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

CASH ASSETS, over and above CHICAGO LOSSES,

$2,700,000!

In consequence of the low rates prevailing in Chicago, this Company has done a limited business there for a year or two, and the result is, the entire losses by the Great Fire do not exceed Half a Million Dollars, not one-half of the net surplus over all liabilities! This is the result of the Company's prudence in refusing to do business at ruinous rates.

Those seeking reliable insurance should secure policies in the

THE TRI-WEEKLY YEOMAN.

The famous French tri-color is still flying from the spire of the Cathedral at Metz, or was, at least, on the 12th of September last. The Prussian authorities have made every effort to have it removed, but without success. They have vainly offered large sums of money to any adventurer spirit who would climb the steeple to remove it, while their sharpshooters have uselessly fired thousands of shots at it. The people have come to look upon the lone flag as a good augury. They say with effusion that the flag of France still flies above them, and when the breeze extends its folds in the direction of the Rhine, they point to it, and say to each other in the street: "Look! We shall have a fine day; the wind comes from France!" There is said to be in all Metz only one man who is both skillful enough and daring enough to climb the steeple to its entire height. This is he who placed the flag there. He is a poor workman, and during the war attached the flag to the peak of the spire for five francs; but the patriotic Frenchman has refused the Prussian Governor's offer of five thousand francs to remove it.—N. WILD NATURE IN CALIFORNIA.—There are still some nooks in California sacred to Nature and her apostles. We just visited one of them—a narrow and weedy canyon, full of spicy woods; a trout-stream brawled lustily over the pebbles at the ford; cattle browsed in the heat, mindful only of summer flies; birds and bees made the air busy in places; berry bushes projected their elbowy clusters; and a cabin on the edge of all this was the abode of a solitary hunter. We talked with him. He had tasted of the adventures till no manner of thing could satisfy him. Again, and we talked, twilight flowed in and filled up the valley; the dusty sunshine climbed the steep mountain opposite; the bubler bill-slopes clothed themselves in royal purple; and down by the stream, where the bed of the valley broadened, a coyote sat alone, plaintively lifting his falsetto voice in a cry that seemed to penetrate to the remotest recesses of the mountains, and return again like a wall of sound, and before the echo was entirely lost to our ear we turned and fled to the hotel.—From A CALIFORNIA SEASIDE, by Charles Warren Stoddard, in the November number of Lippincott's Magazine.

RESTAURANT CABLES.—Most New Yorkers have at one time or another been diverted with the shouts of the waiters at a cheap restaurant, who yell out in awful haste, with wonderful oral phonetics, and sometimes with fantastic variations, the articles which the guests order in English. For instance, "In-gine pood, both;" (too short as in good), "Indian pudding with both kinds of sauce" (viz. hard and liquid). Chas. Matthews, the younger, has, however, put on record a strange specimen of abbreviation of this kind, colored by a postscript which is, no doubt, the most amusing instance extant. Going into an eating house for lunch, he heard, as he entered and sat down, seven orders given in quick succession by a throng of as many customers, one calling for a basin of ox-tail soup, two for mock turtle soup, three for pea soup, and one for bouilli. And the waiter, dashing to the speaking tube that communicated with the cook, bawled out with immense rapidity, "One ox, two mock, three peas, and a bouilli!"

"Negro."—An exchange says: "We often hear of colored men, but rarely do we hear anything of negro men. From a mistaken delicacy, or from ignorance as to its true meaning, the word is falling into disuse. The word negro is Spanish, and means black. It is descriptive, and not a word of reproach. When, then, we speak of a negro man, it carries with it no more of insult, than does the word white when applied to white men."

A man recently came to his death in a curious manner at Venice, Italy. He was standing near the bronze automaton on the St. Mark's bell tower, which tells the time of day, with his head between the bell and hammer. The hour came round without his notice, the automaton struck one and knocked his brains out.

"You never saw such a happy lot of people as we had yesterday," said a landlady in Indiana, to a newly arrived guest; "there were, thirteen couples of them." "What, thirteen couples just married?" "Oh no, no, no, sir; thirteen couples just divorced!"

"I'm afraid you don't like babies when they cry," said a matron to a gentleman, as she tried to soothe the darling in her arms. "Oh yes," said he, "I like them best when they cry, because I've always observed that then they are invariably carried out of the room."

TO GIVE A GLOSS TO LEATHER.—Apply the white of eggs, beaten up with an equal quantity of cold water, a little sugar candy being added. It is perfectly transparent, dries in a few minutes, and is not rendered sticky by a hot hand, nor affected by the weather.

The ivory keys to a piano, which have become yellow may be made white again by washing them with a sponge with diluted sulphuric acid, or a solution of soda, and expose to the sun.

Mr. A. T. Stewart will tender the Grand Duke Alex's grand banquet, to take place in Mr. Stewart's new marble palace, corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue.

TO WITHER LINEN.—Put a handful of the leaves of the Jamestown weed in the pot and boil with the clothes. The frequent use of this whiten clothes very much.

An Indiana groom kissed the bride so loudly as to extort a round of applause from the assembled audience at the wedding.

A Boston paper says that, "as a rule, ladies who do not wear their hair in the French 'roll' are considered ill-bred."

A writer on school discipline says, "Without a liberal use of the rod, it is impossible to make boys smart."

Let trimming have come in fashion again, and is used very much on cloaks and cloth costumes.

Two girls ten and twelve years old, got into a fight at Charleston, and one was killed.
